Washington Students Are Re-assigned

Students in Washington School District have been informed that they will not be allowed to attend Hope High School next year as they have in the past for years and years.

Instead they have been assigned to Lincoln High School, the Negro School in Washington. There are 10 members of this year's senior class at Hope High School from Washington. Under this federal ruling they will not be allowed to graduate with their class.

The only way for a student in the Washington district to attend Hope High School is for his family to move to the Hope District.

Here's the letter students of Washington received from School Supt. Thurston Hulsey who acted at the instructions of government officials:

"Officials of the Federal Government will not permit the Washington School Board to make arrangements for any students living in the Washington District. To attend any school outside the Washington School District The only high school to be operated by the Washington School District in the 1966-67 school term will be Lincoln High School.

None of the trainmen was injured. The cars rolled down the dump, but the track was cleared and traffic resumed Monday.

The derailment was blamed on a rail distorted out of alignment by the severe summer heat.

McClellan's Foe Raps Him

CLINTON, Ark. (AP) — Foster Johnson, a Democratic candidate for Sen. John L. McClellan's congressional seat, said Saturday that McClellan is not using his seniority in Congress to help the people of Arkansas.

Instead, Johnson charged, McClellan is using his position to obtain new business for his law firm in Little Rock. Johnson told a political rally here that if elected, he will use his office to obtain new industry for the state.

Auto Program to Start Third Series

The third Youth Automotive Program meeting will be held on Tuesday night, July 19, of this week, said Calvin Caldwell, county agent. The program, which will be held in the large courtroom of the county courthouse, will get underway at 7:30 p.m., Mr. Caldwell said.

The program will be in two parts as follows:

Automobile Insurance will be discussed by Duffie Booth, of Roy Anderson Insurance Company of Hope.

There will be a short lecture and film by Don Griscom, assistant Director of Safety, Arkansas Farm Bureau Federation. A stopping demonstration using an auto equipped with an electronic detonator which is mounted on the front bumper of the car, will fire yellow paint bullets to mark the distance required to stop the car in an emergency, will be used.

There will be a door prize of 10 gallons of premium gasoline for the lucky person.

The Youth Automotive Program is for anyone 14 through 17 years old. There is no registration fee.

Boyce Asks Sulcer to Join Him

Kenneth Sulcer was invited Sunday to withdraw from the gubernatorial race and join the ranks of Sam Boyce, but the state representative from Osceola quickly labeled the idea "a ridiculous joke."

Boyce, one of seven Democrats seeking the state's highest office, released a copy of a telegram he sent Sulcer urging the move.

Boyce said he was running third in the race and wanted Sulcer to join him to keep two machine candidates from entering the runoff.

"I have not seen the telegram," Sulcer said. "I would not dignify such a ridiculous joke with a reply."

Cong Appeals for Help From Allies

By JOHN RODERICK
TOKYO (AP) — North Viet Nam made an unusual appeal today for more material and moral support from its Communist allies and other nations, describing its war situation as "extremely serious." But Red China indicated it is not ready to send its soldiers into the fight.

The plea came from North Viet Nam's Fatherland Front and was addressed even to the American people in an effort to weaken the Johnson administration's political flank at home. It followed President Ho Chi Minh's decree of partial mobilization of North Vietnamese reserves Sunday.

The mobilization decree touched off speculation that North Viet Nam planned to send more regular troops into the South in reply to the intensified American air war, using the reserves to fill gaps at home. Military action in South Viet Nam suggested infiltration might be increasing already.

Three thousand U.S. Marines and South Vietnamese troops swept an area just below the 17th Parallel frontier where a North Vietnamese division of 3,000 to 4,000 men had been reported. Fighting tapered off today, but the allied force was reported to have killed 167 Reds since the operation began Friday.

2 West Crossett Men Drowned

The Strong rescue squad recovered the bodies from about 10 to 20 feet of water and the deaths were ruled accidental by the Union County Coroner's Office.

Richard Speck, for 15 hours the country's most wanted man, lies in a prison hospital, charged with murdering eight student nurses.

Relentless police work put Chicago detectives on the trail of Richard Speck even before they knew his name. Rioting has subsided on Chicago's West Side, but Negro storms elsewhere. "No matter what they tell you," says one, "everything is not okay in colored town."

The Illinois National Guard still patrols the streets of a Chicago Negro neighborhood, which has been quiet three nights in a row after last week's rioting.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa. (AP) — Dr. I. M. Levitt, who recently returned from a tour of Moscow and Leningrad, says Russia is breaking attendance records by turning its planetariums into popular showcases for its space program.

The Scoundrels Already Known

TUCSON, Ariz. (AP) — State Rep. Jack Gilbert, one of three candidates for the Democratic nomination for governor of Arizona, told a group recently: "I'm not going to talk about the other candidates because you know what scoundrels they are."

Authorities said he used either a broken bottle or knife to slash his arm and wrist. He lost 1 1/2 pints of blood.

Police picked Gerald up Friday afternoon after witnesses reported seeing Gerald with Speck in a rooming house Thursday afternoon.

Police said Gerald told them he and Speck discussed the nurses' massacre while drinking in a tavern the morning the bodies were found.

Gerald said Speck told him: "It must have been a sex maniac who did that crime."

The story unfolded all day Sunday as details of police activity were made public.

The young surgeon, Dr. Leroy Smith, 26, worked on the bloodied man — who was registered in the Star Hotel as B. Brain — in the emergency room as just another case until he saw something under the coat of blood.

"I moistened my finger tips and rubbed," Dr. Smith said. "I saw a b. I rubbed some more and saw b-o-o-n."

It was the first word of a tattoo reading "born to raise hell." Dr. Smith recalled the newspaper article and quickly washed the blood off the arm.

Man Found Bleeding on Skid Row

By JOE DILL

CHICAGO (AP) — Richard Speck, the most wanted man in the country for 15 hours, lay in a prison hospital bed charged with murder today while police pieced together the story behind the massacre of eight student nurses.

Speck, a 25-year-old ex-convict, spent his last hours drinking and carousing before he attempted — unsuccessfully — to end his life, Sunday.

In an ironic twist, the fugitive whose name and picture were flashed around the world was taken to a hospital by policemen who didn't recognize him.

State's Atty. Daniel Ward said Speck would appear in circuit court today on a charge of murdering 22-year-old Gloria Jean Davy, one of the eight student nurses massacred in their residence early Thursday.

Ward said he anticipates filing multiple murder charges against Speck and that he probably will present the case to the grand jury this week.

Speck has been under sedation in the city jail hospital and reported in good condition. Ward said Speck had not been questioned and had made no statements. He was under heavy guard.

The nationwide hunt for Speck ended in a skid row flophouse when a tenant saw Speck staggering down a hallway, covered with blood. The tenant called the desk clerk and he summoned police.

Police placed a tourniquet on the profusely bleeding left arm and took the man, reeking from alcohol and unconscious, to Cook County Hospital.

But a young surgeon who had just read a newspaper recognized a tattoo and summoned police. This came less than 15 hours after a murder warrant had been issued for Speck.

Detectives theorized that Speck drank himself into a stupor and tried to commit suicide after he saw a drinking buddy in the back seat of a police car.

Detective John Mitchell said Speck may have spotted Robert Gerald in the back of a squad car as police toured skid row in a systematic search for Speck Friday night and Saturday.

Mitchell said Speck may have reasoned he had run out of time, and attempted to kill himself.

Authorities said he used either a broken bottle or knife to slash his arm and wrist. He lost 1 1/2 pints of blood.

Police picked Gerald up Friday afternoon after witnesses reported seeing Gerald with Speck in a rooming house Thursday afternoon.

Police said Gerald told them he and Speck discussed the nurses' massacre while drinking in a tavern the morning the bodies were found.

Traffic Toll on Weekend Hits Seven

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Frank Allen Gill, 26, of McGehee was killed Sunday in a flaming one-car crash about three miles northeast of Dermott on U.S. 165.

State Police said Gill's car apparently went out of control, struck an embankment and burst into flames. The victim was trapped in the burning car.

Gill was one of seven persons killed in weekend highway accidents, an Associated Press count showed today. The 54-hour period began at 6 p.m. Friday and ended at midnight Sunday.

E. A. Caraway, 80, of Walnut Ridge was killed Saturday when his car left Arkansas 91 and rammed into an embankment about four miles north of Egypt in Craighead County.

Dewey Leroy Rice, about 44, of Little Rock was killed Saturday when he was struck by a car on U.S. 67 in Jackson County. State Police said the victim walked into the path of a car driven by Manuel E. Serna of Melrose Park, Ill.

A two-car collision Saturday on U.S. 82 in the city limits of Stamps claimed the life of Lovie Rogers, 52, of Lamberton.

Two persons were killed in a two-car collision seven miles south of Waldron Friday night. They were Dale Junior Wagner, 24, of Waldron and Evie Childers, 78, of Des Arc.

Ricky Ledbetter, 7, of Oden in Montgomery County was killed Saturday in the head-on collision of two cars on U.S. 70 about 11 miles east of Hot Springs. He was the son of Clovis Ledbetter.

Nobody Very Worried by This Epidemic

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

The medical profession is unworried by a seasonal epidemic of ephelides affecting millions of U.S. teen-agers. Ephelides are caused by the sun — and most people call them freckles.

Ever wonder how much you can get for damaged paper currency? Well, if three-fifths of a bill survives, you can redeem it for its full face value. If less than three-fifths but more than two-fifths, it's worth half its face value. If less than two-fifths remains, it is worthless except as a souvenir.

If all heart disease could be wiped out, it would increase life expectancy at birth by only six years. There is still no medical miracle on the horizon that would enable the average man to live to be 100 years old.

Guards Are Removed at Chicago

By AUSTIN SCOTT and HOLLE WEST
CHICAGO (AP) — With National Guard troops withdrawn to armories, an extra alarm fire in a riot-torn district gave police a test today of their power to control disorders in emergencies.

In the early morning hours, 2,700 guardsmen were taken off West Side streets where they spent three nights on riot duty. They were ready to return tonight.

The fire started in the basement of a drugstore at 1259 W. Roosevelt Rd., target of looters during last week's disorders. A crowd of 500 spectators gathered at the scene but they caused no trouble. At a fire last week, firemen were pelted with rocks as they fought a blaze in a Negro neighborhood.

The drugstore basement fire was extinguished in 1½ hours. The force of some 4,000 guardsmen was more than halved early today.

Some 1,236 administrative and supply personnel got the first word from their commander, Maj. Gen. Francis P. Kane of the 33rd Infantry Division of the Illinois National Guard, at midnight and went home.

Three hours later, 1,465 other guardsmen left the streets, but they went to armories in the city, on standby duty.

Kane said, "At the present time, we plan to put troops on the street again Monday night."

Kane said that after a 3½-hour tour of the West Side area he had noted there were fewer incidents and that the district appears to be returning to normal.

Police — operating under an emergency plan since the looting, shooting and burning reached a peak last Thursday — said morning patrols would be normal.

The outburst began last Tuesday when Negroes reacted with rock throwing after a patrolman turned off a hydrant where kids were cooling off in mid-90s temperatures. It claimed two deaths, scores of injuries and untold damage — when guardsmen moved in with weapons at the ready Friday night.

Gov. Otto Kerner, after a surprise tour of the West Side area Sunday said: "We are hopeful that law and order have been restored."

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

REVENGE, ONCE REMOVED

Dear Helen: I have been divorced five years and never believed in playing around with another woman's husband, as this is how I lost mine. A clever little secretary took him away from me after 14 years of marriage.

My problem now is I've met this fellow who has a wife and three children. We were just office friends, and suddenly we were much more. I never meant it to go this far.

Helen, I want to call it quits. I've told him I wouldn't go out with him or let him come to see me any more, but somehow we always end up back together again. He says he can't let me go.

I know what his wife is going through because I have suffered the same thing. He tells me she is about to give him his walking papers.

How can I keep from being — The Other Woman.

Dear O.W. If you really want to call it quits, you can — by transferring to another job. But my I.G.A.P. (I'm Guessing Again Perception) tells me you may be involved in second-hand revenge, even as you repeat, "I know what his wife is going through."

Think deep: Is it love, or the subconscious urge to "do unto others as you were done unto"? Your letter never once mentioned any great fondness for this man, but it was filled with descriptions of YOUR loss to that other woman.

Be totally honest with yourself and perhaps quitting will come easier. — H.

Dear Helen: You didn't mention in your bit about breaking fingernails the one thing that is really murder to long ones: girdle yank. More teens wear girdles these days — therefore more nail problems. — Ma.

Dear Ma: Works both ways: fingernail yank sabotages girdles too. One solution: fold garment down and do your pulling on a double thickness of material — and grip with your thumbs and knuckles rather than your nails. H.

A GOOD "THINK" GOING FOR HER

Dear Helen: I've been thinking, the TV commercials aimed at men mainly (tires, cars, stomach upsets, etc.) are getting hilariously clever — better sometimes than the TV shows. But those aimed exclusively at women — soap, cleaners, deodorants and mouthwashes — stay insipid, inane and so ridiculous or soupy they make my skin crawl. In fact they are on par with daytime TV, another strictly-for-dames phenomenon, and that was one of the reason I went back to work.

Could this be because advertising people, and daytime TV producers, are mostly male and they are hooked with the idea that women are still brainless, second class citizens? — Observe

Dear Ob: You've got a good "think" going. One of these days male writers and executives will surely get your point. I hope it's soon! — H.

Dear Helen: I'm just an unconstructed father and not supposed to be hep, but I'd sure like to know two things: Why do my female children buy lip-stick, "guaranteed not to turn pink," and sludgy stuff guarantee to take out the natural curl in their hair?

What's the use of wearing lip-stick that doesn't make your lips red? I always thought naturally curly hair was the blessing that saved girls from permanents.

Of course I always thought that the object of dancing was to hold your girl tight so I'm not very bright. Will somebody tell me what goes on here? — Pop

Dear Pop: "Pop" goes on, that is what. And really, is it any worse than bee-stung lips, marcel waves and the Bunny Hop? — H.

WEDDING VOWS EXCHANGED

Mrs. Curtis Lynn Parker

Miss Brenda Carol Anderson and Curtis Lynn Parker were united in marriage at the First Baptist Church of Nash, Tex., at 7:30 Friday evening, June 24, in the presence of families and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Carroll E. Anderson are parents of the bride and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James V. Parker. All are of Texarkana.

Prior to the ceremony nuptial music was presented by Mrs. W. S. McDowell as candles were lighted by ushers, Robert H. Hay and J. C. Easterling. Bob Arnold sang "Always" and, later in the ceremony as the couple knelt for benediction, "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father wore a slender gown of white bridal satin which was her own creation. The empire style bodice was enhanced by bell shaped sleeves and scalloped lace panels extended the length of the dress. A modified train of lace panels was attached to the back of the dress. Her veil of illusion fell in misty tiers from a matching satin bow. She carried a cascade of fleur d'amour centered with a large lavender orchid atop a white Bible.

Miss Carolyn Kirby was maid of honor. She wore a street length dress of lavender satin and a circlet veil attached to a satin bow. She carried a bouquet of white mums.

Keith Norman was best man. Mrs. Anderson, mother of the bride, wore an avocado green lace ensemble and her corsage was of green cymbidium orchids. Mrs. Parker, mother of the groom, chose a primrose ensemble and her corsage was matching cymbidium orchids.

Prior to the ceremony, Miss

NORTHLAKE, Ill. (AP) — Development of a telephone that can be used to query a computer over existing telephone lines and obtain an immediate voice response has been announced by Automatic Electric Co.
Company president Darwin H. Deaver said that a typical application, as checking a credit rating, would take about 30 seconds. In that time the computer would give the caller a voice message such as "Credit okay," "Limit credit to $50," "Credit card reported lost" or "Credit not okay."
The computer is connected to telephone central office switching equipment through a data set. Once the connection is made by dialing, a question is asked the computer by tapping out a series of digits on pushbuttons. In the case of the credit inquiry, the sales clerk would enter the account number.

Discussion Program at Rotary Meet

STATE AUDITOR STRESSES RELIGION
CANTON, Ill. (AP) — "Our only enemy is irreligion," State Auditor Michael J. Howlett, Chicago, was made to 200 nights of Columbus, adding that this country's greatest weakness is its moral looseness.

"While we have made progress in material things, our moral standards have lessened; our moral standards are slipping," he said. "Many people live in God's world quite unmindful of him as our creator."

"If those who worship the almighty dollar would worship God instead, we would not have to endure so many problems."

'CAROUSEL,' 'SHOW BOAT' TO SOUTH AMERICA
NEW YORK (AP) — Two favorite musicals, "Carousel" and "Show Boat," are being packaged for a good-will tour of South America next fall under State Department auspices.

A company of 35 actors and 20 technicians is to make the trip. Producing the shows, which will be performed outdoors or in a mobile tent, are Howard Young and Russell Lewis. The 10-week expedition starts Sept. 27 in Caracas. Other scheduled stops are Rio de Janeiro, Sao Paulo, Montevideo, Buenos Aires, Cordoba, Santiago, Lima, Guayaquil, Quito and Cali.

Hope Rotarians had a discussion-type program in which all participated on Friday, July 10 at the Town and Country. Program chairman Bob Willhite presented a case study of an aging department head, and members offered suggestions for dealing with the problems while retaining the thought of Service Above Self.

Comments and ideas concerning the responsibility of Rotarians for employees was brought out during the discussion.

President Paul Klipsch announced a new part of the Hope Rotary Club program would be started July 22 when newer members of the club will be given an opportunity to speak briefly about themselves and their business.

David Peters, city engineer, will be the first to be heard, and others will follow suit during ensuing weeks.

Elmer Harris of Stamps was a visiting Rotarian and there were no club guests.

from them; some African countries had caught them redhanded at subversion; and sudden changes in government had brought some changes in Red Chinese policy.

As far back as March 28, U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg remarked: "I would say right at the moment that there are fewer votes for admission of Red China to the United Nations than there were at the last assembly." The following month U.N. Secretary-General U Thant said indications were that the question of the Chinese seat "will not be solved in the coming 21st session of the General Assembly."

Nevertheless, the issue will be argued out along familiar lines.

Among the arguments for seating Communist China are: 1. She is entitled to it. 2. Without her the United Nations is not "universal." 3. Some 690 million Chinese lack representation here. 4. Such world problems as disarmament and the war in Viet Nam cannot be settled without Peking.

Among the arguments against seating Red China are: 1. She is not entitled to it because the U.N. Charter says the United Nations is for peace-loving countries only. 2. She does not represent the Chinese people because they look to the Republic of China on Formosa. 3. She is so hostile to the United Nations that she would only obstruct settlements. 4. This open hostility shows a lack of interest in coming here.

The Republic of China is a charter member of the 21-year-old United Nations. Its government fled to Formosa in 1949 when the Communists established the People's Republic of China on the mainland.

UN Unlikely to Invite in Red China

By WILLIAM N. OATIS
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — Despite all the talk about inviting Communist China into the United Nations, the General Assembly is unlikely to do that this fall and may give it even fewer votes than last year.

Various U.S. scholars favor Red China's admission, but not enough U.N. members are for it to make it come to pass.

Delegates estimate that in next fall's General Assembly a resolution to oust the Chinese Nationalists and seat the Chinese Communists will get several fewer votes than it did in last fall's assembly.

That last resolution failed Nov. 17 on a 47-47 tie vote, with 20 nations abstaining. That was not so close as it looks because the assembly had decided it would take a two-thirds vote — not just a simple majority — to change Chinas in the United Nations.

Nine of the 11 countries that put the question before the last assembly already are talking about how to handle it in the next one starting Sept. 20. Algeria and Cambodia have drawn up a memorandum setting forth their case.

One of the diplomats involved in those talks expects that Communist China will get one or two fewer votes this year than it did last.

A U.S. delegate makes the same guess, though he adds that it is really too early to tell.

Ambassador Hsueh Yu-chi of Nationalist China told a reporter: "There will be six or seven more votes against the admission of the Chinese Communists."

Hsueh cited as some of the reasons why the Communists had lost votes: his own government had won friends away

Says People Eat With Their Eyes

COLLEGE STATION, Tex. (AP) — "People eat with their eyes," claims Dr. Edward E. Burns, Texas A&M food technician.

Dr. Burns said previous associations and connotations of a food decide whether an eater likes or dislikes it before a morsel ever touches a taste bud.

Chances Life, Wins This Time

DICKINSON, N.D. (AP) — A speeding motorist chanced his life against a railroad engine last night, and won. A policeman chasing him was killed when his car hit a boxcar the engine was pulling.

Policeman Theodore C. Wanner, 29, was chasing an unidentified driver. The pursuit led over a rail siding. The motorist got safely across ahead of an engine that was pulling a single freight car. Wanner's machine slammed into the car.

MAN FOUND

The tattoo was one of the identifying marks flashed across the continent 15 hours previously.

"What's your name?" Dr. Smith asked the man.

"Richard, Richard Speck," he answered weakly.

"This is the fellow police are looking for," Dr. Smith told a nurse. "Get hold of the police right now."

At one point, Dr. Smith said, Speck looked up and asked: "Will you get the $10,000?"

"I just walked away," the young surgeon said.

The reference was to the $10,000 reward offered by the South Chicago Community Hospital, where the student nurses trained.

When Speck was coming out of the anesthesia, the doctor quoted him as saying: "I'm scared, I'm scared."

As details of the police investigation were revealed Sunday it showed that Speck might be tied to the mass murder partly by his desire to reach New Orleans.

The only survivor of the massacre, Corazon Amurao, 23, a Filipino exchange nurse, told police the killer had said to the nurses he would not harm them, that he only wanted to get money so he could reach New Orleans.

Then, Miss Amurao said, the man coolly and methodically took her eight friends into other rooms one at a time and strangled or slashed them to death.

Miss Amurao escaped the slaughter by rolling under a bed while the man was killing a nurse in another room.

Within three hours after the bodies were found, police learned that a stranger had been at a service station three blocks from the nurses' townhouse two days previously. He said that he was a seaman and wanted to find a job so he could go to New Orleans.

At the National Maritime Union hiring hall — which is within 30 yards of the nurses' front door — detectives learned that a Richard Franklin Speck had applied for a job.

"He wanted a ship going to New Orleans," the clerk said.

The clerk gave police the man's application, along with a 25-cent photograph of Speck.

The next day, Miss Amurao identified the photograph of Speck as the man who killed her eight friends.

In Washington, the FBI produced the ex-convict's fingerprints. At midday Saturday, three prints lifted from a door in the nurses' townhouse were matched to those of Speck.

The FBI said Speck was now their most wanted man.

The Archbishop Joins the Playboy Club

By TOM A. CULLEN
European Staff Correspondent

LONDON — (NEA) — Now that London has gained the reputation of being a swinging city of switched-on dollys in miniskirts the killjoys have set to work to spoil it all.

Nobody is worried much about the miniskirts. They are considered to be tonic for tired eyes. But the Church of England and the House of Lords are concerned about the gambling casinos that have made this city famous as the modern Gomorrah.

Gambling of all sorts is not only openly condoned in London but it is being commercially exploited, says the Church Council on Gambling, an offshoot of the Church of England. "As a result Britain appears reckless to many overseas visitors," says the Rev. Gordon E. Moody, the council's secretary.

Calling for parliamentary action, the Anglican church group pictures London in the grips of a giant pincer movement that extends from scruffy bingo halls to the elegant gaming rooms of Mayfair.

The House of Lords is no less concerned with London's overseas image as Las Vegas-on-Thames. In fact, if their lordships are to be believed, American gamblers are deserting Las Vegas and arriving here by the plane-load as guests, with all expenses paid, of such gambling emporia as the Victoria Sporting Club.

The poison has spread from London until now the whole of Britain is gambling mad, according to Dr. Ellison, the Bishop of Chester. Gambling is now Britain's fastest growth industry, with an annual turnover of $3 billion, according to the bishop.

Opening the debate in the House of Lords, His Grace charged that the 1960 Betting and Gaming Act is a failure. It has given rise to such unforeseen offspring as the Playboy Clubs, which the Archbishop of Canterbury was recently invited to join. Dr. Ellison said that he had no doubt that other bishops had been invited to frolic with the bunnies.

Lord Derwent (Motto: Never Unready) said that the gaming act has also encouraged protection rackets and "other unpleasantness."

Viscount Massereene (Motto: Through Difficulties to Honors) agreed, though Britain's 16,000 betting shops should be nationalized. "Then we would have at least one nationalized industry showing a profit," he remarked.

Lord Wade, a life peer, thought that gambling had a softening effect on the nation's moral fiber. He cited the $7,500,000 that had been staked on the general election in March, "much of it coming from the Stock Exchange to hedge against possible share losses following a Labor victory," he said.

Lord Fortescue (Motto: A Strong Shield is My Salvation), a Stock Exchange member for 40 years, arose to deny that reputable firms engage in this sort of hanky-panky.

The House of Lords contains at least one unabashed gambler. He is 45-year-old Lord Kilbracken (Motto: Without God Nothing), who began his rake's progress as a 16-year-old schoolboy at Eton.

At this tender age Lord Kilbracken ran a book with over a hundred schoolboy clients, he admitted. "I am a compulsive gambler, but aware of the disintegrating effect gambling can have," he confessed. "That is the effect it has had on me. It can destroy all worth-while standards."

The likelihood is that Britain's Labor government will bring in a set of strict licensing controls for gambling casinos within the next few months. As the Guardian points out in a recent editorial, "it is not necessary to be a full-blown puritan to be worried by the present gambling mania."

LORD KILBRACKEN, who gambles a lot, says he doesn't want impressionable young Britons to follow his example.

THE WELL CHILD

Mumps Rarely Serious Childhood Disease

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Mumps, an acute infection of the parotid salivary glands, is rarely a serious childhood disease but occasionally may cause meningitis or encephalitis (brain fever). Recovery from these complications is the rule but sometimes they leave the child with some degree of deafness.

When a boy escapes mumps until adolescence or adulthood the disease may "go down" and cause an acute inflammation of the testicles.
Inflammation of the ovaries in older girls may also occur but is much rarer.

This involvement of the sex glands can be prevented by keeping the victim in bed during the acute stage of the parotid swelling. A reader writes to say that his younger brother had this complication and to ask whether this would be caused by a congenital disease

Q—My 3-year-old daughter has hypsarrhythmia. Brain specialists tell us there is no hope for her. She can't even sit up or hold her head up.
How long do these children live?

A—Hypsarrhythmia refers to a type of abnormal brain wave seen on the electroencephalogram in children with severe mental retardation.
When there are other children in the family, it is usually better for them to put the affected child in an institution. How long such a child can live is hard to say.

How to See the USA—Free!

NEW YORK — (NEA) — A couple of Swedish chicks have just embarked on an around-the-country automobile tour and plan to tell several dozen Rotary Clubs about Sweden's four S's—sin, sex, suicide and smorgasbord.

What's more, they actually want to do it. How Rotarians will react to this assault on American sensibilities is, of course, another matter.

Helena Wadsten and Ann-Charlotte Hultcrantz, both Stockholm students, always wanted to visit the United States but, like so many other European youngsters, didn't have the money.

So, says blonde Ann-Charlotte, "we went to the U.S. Embassy in Stockholm and spoke with the cultural attache. He was very nice and said we ought to speak with the Rotary International in Sweden."

It happens that Ernst Breitholtz, of Kalmars, is Rotary's first vice president and he liked the idea. "They must go, they must tell the story of Sweden as only they can do it," Breitholtz said.

Breitholtz arranged for the girls to speak at a number of Rotary Clubs and, better yet, to stay overnight—no charge—with Rotary families.

With this out of the way, Ann-Charlotte and Helena were ready to brace other groups which never really thought about underwriting a summer-long trip through the United States.

It didn't take too much convincing, the girls report, to wangle a free round-trip passage aboard the Swedish-American Line's new Kungsholm, a factory-delivered Saab (which they hope to keep), expense money from Rotary and the backing of the

Search for Suspect Well Conducted

By JULES LOH
CHICAGO (AP) — Rarely has a police investigation been conducted more expertly than the one that led to the arrest of Richard Speck.

Detectives were dogging their prime suspect even as the bodies of the eight murdered student nurses were being removed from the Chicago townhouse — even, indeed, before they knew the man's name.

But the police were cozy. They didn't let on.

Not until they had Speck's fingerprints, background, name, description and an eyewitness identification of a photograph — enough to justify an arrest warrant — did they broadcast the news.

When they did the whole nation was keyed to receive it, and the very publicity led to his recognition by the hospital doctor treating Speck's slash wounds.

The trackdown began when Corazon Amurao, the only survivor of the massacre, gasped her first hysterical description of the killer to a patrolman at dawn Thursday, moments after he fled the blood-spattered house.

Teams of detectives fanned out through the South Side neighborhood.

One stop was a filling station. A stranger fitting the description had been there, the attendant said. He had left two suitcases there Tuesday morning while he went to look for a room. He came back the next morning and picked them up.

Next stop was the Maritime Union hall across the street from the nurses' townhouse.

Yes, such a man had been there Monday morning looking for a job on a New Orleans-bound ship. The name on the application was Richard Speck, and a small, coin-machine photograph was attached. He also left the phone number of a sister, where he could be reached in case a job should turn up.

Hadn't Miss Amurao said the killer had demanded money so he could get to New Orleans? Yes, she had.

A detective dialed the number. Tell your brother, he instructed, to contact the union hall.

At 3:10 p.m. Speck returned the call. Posing as a union official a detective told him to come to the hall immediately, there was a job waiting for him. Speck said he would be there.

Meanwhile, investigators had Speck's activities well catalogued.

Monday night he had stayed at a rooming house nearby. All the rooms were occupied, so he slept on a couch. Tuesday night he had stayed at another rooming house, adjoining a tavern. During the three days before the murders he had hung around various taverns and loafed in the quiet park behind the townhouse where the nurses stayed.

Speck didn't return to the union hall. Instead he gathered his belongings from the rooming house, caught a cab and headed for the other side of town.

house whose owners live elsewhere. Nobody improves the place, the grass is never cut. A resident of the area has tried to buy the place with no luck. Apparently the city hasn't or can't condemn it. How can the appearance of the highway through Hope be improved when such a house is allowed to stand vacant, rundown, a horrible sight for all who pass.

Swedish Institute, the Swedish Information Service and the Swedish National Travel Office. "Everybody was so nice about it," Helena says.

According to Ake Gille, manager of the New York office of the Swedish travel bureau, the freebies haven't stopped. "I have letters offering the girls just about everything from participation in local radio and television shows to appearances in fashion shows," he says.

The girls will be passing through Delaware, Indiana, Illinois, Minnesota and California, entertaining Rotary Clubs along the way. "We are going to talk about Sweden," Ann-Charlotte says. "We are regular ambassadors and we are going to invite everybody to visit Sweden this year. It's homecoming year, you know."

They are also going to have an expense-paid trip. "But talking about Sweden is much more important," Helena points out, winking discreetly.
